DESIGNS of a crest for the Canadian Commonwealth Federation are requested. We would suggest a monkey-wrench rampant in the cylinders of the old party machines.

The movement for home rule for Scotland is spreading, says Sir Herbert Samuel. The first thing we know they will be demanding the same for England, which will be rather hard on the prime minister and other ambitious Scots.

We have been buying so much more from the United States than they were buying from us that it is about time they offered to reciprocate.

In spite, perhaps because, of having the whole United States behind it, the Reconstruction Finance Corporation is going to make the last estate of that country worse than the first by pouring millions into railroads trying to keep banks, afloat and railways from receiverships, as well as relieving cities which through graft and extravagance have landed themselves in debts which they cannot or will not liquidate with their own taxes. It is an attempt to divert the gulf stream of federal finance into an arctic of frozen loans, making the atmosphere foggy and navigation more dangerous.

Will Rogers says Corbett never spoke an unkind word to anyone. It is rather rough on Fitzsimmons if what Corbett said about him was not unkind. As an Irish-American, it was natural for him to dislike Fitzsimmons, who, besides depriving him of the championship, spoke with a decided cockney accent.

De Valera denounces the partition of Ireland as the greatest of the many crimes committed by English statesmen in 750 years. His memories run back to the time of Strongbow, and everything wrong which took place since then he blames on British statesmen. They were often to blame, no doubt, but the partition of Ireland was an Irish partition to which Britain assented. It was purely an Irish agreement—or disagreement.

The people who are most clamorous in the demand for leadership are generally people who do not want to follow.

The members of the Communist party and the Labor Defence League are in this happy position that no government we shall ever have will prove satisfactory to them, and, therefore they are assumed of life-long careers as agitators.

The chamber of the House of Commons might also be called the withdrawing room.

Mustapha Kemal orders his people to forget God in the Arabic and worship Him in the Turkish language.

Interesting Evening for Lodge Members and Their Friends

Large Crowd Enjoy Program and Dance; Rebekahs Present Floorwork

At 7:45 p.m. on Wednesday of last week, the subordinate and Rebekah lodges in Vulcan and district met for the purpose of transacting business pertaining to the district. Distinguished visitors who were welcomed during the evening in their respective lodges were E. G. McPherson, Grand Master of Grand Lodge; M. Saunders, Grand Warden; Alex. B. Ballentine, Grand Secretary; H. Nixon, Senior Warden of the Grand Encampment; D. L. Doane, Past Grand Patriarch; and W. Northoner, D.D.G.M., of Calgary and district. Rebekah visitors of office were: Mrs. R. Davies, vice-president of the Rebekah Assembly; Mrs. A. Day, secretary Rebekah Assembly; Mrs. M. Saunders, Past President of the Assembly, and Mrs. J. J. McMillan, D.D. President of District No. 15.

After short business sessions, the doors were opened and about 240 Odd fellows, Rebekahs and their friends gathered to enjoy an excellent program featuring the Clover Leaf Rebekah degree team floor work, and many items by local talent together with a solo by Mrs. R. Davies of Calgary, and an address by A. B. Ballentine of Calgary.

The program opened with the solo by Mrs. Davies followed by the ceremony of induction of District Deputy President and District Deputy Grand Master of this district. Mrs. A. McIvor and Mr. W. D. Allan being appointed respectively to these high offices. The ceremony was performed by E. G. McPherson, G.M., and Mrs. R. Davies, vice-president; L. F. Dawson being marshal for the occasion.

A violin solo by Corporal Forsland preceded the degree team floor work this being followed by selections from a male sextette. Personnel of the sextette was W. E. Butchart, J. Conn, W. D. Allan, C. Ottewill, J. T. Willard and R. H. Weale.

Balance of the program included an address by A. B. Ballentine, solo by Miss Rose Hartwig; reading by Miss Marion Lebeau; McPherson sisters trio, concluding with another solo by Mrs. Davies.

Following this interesting program dancing was enjoyed until midnight, when all assembled in the banquet hall where a delicious supper was served.

During the supper hour Mrs. Davies presented certificates of perfection in the unwritten work of the order, to Mrs. P. Bowie, Miss G. Hanson and Mrs. J. C. McMillan.

Mrs. MacMillan, on behalf of the Clover Leaf Rebekah Lodge, presented Mrs. Davies with a small gift as a memento of her visit to Vulcan. Mrs. O. A. Craig, N.G., presented Mrs. MacMillan with a gift as a token of appreciation of her work as a District Deputy President for the past three years.

Dancing was then enjoyed until 2 a.m. The evening was a gratifying success and the committees in charge are to be congratulated on the high degree attained in the entertainment provided.

The dance music was supplied by local talent. Visiting members of the order attended from Milo, Lomond, Carmangay, Nanton, Calgary and Banff.

ULRICH RINK WINS

On Saturday evening the last rock was thrown in scheduled competition between rinks of the Vulcan curling club. The game proved a keenly contested event in the final of the double K.O. competition between rinks skippered by W. E. Butchart and H. B. Ulrich, these attaining the final positions by defeating the Allan and Anderson rinks in the semi-finals of the first and secondary competitions.

The record of the end scores given below tell the story plainly, the Ulrich aggregation being four down on the tenth end and laying four on the eleventh to tie the score on the home stretch. The registered solo count in the final end to win the game 11-12.

Ulrich ..... 200 040 001 041-12
Butchart ..... 011 201 120 300-11

The players of each rink on this occasion were: Ulrich, McAfee, Peterson, McElroy; Butchart, King, Dodds, Gold.

10th ANNIVERSARY

The tenth anniversary of Good Deeds W.I. was celebrated at the regular monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. A. J. Kennedy, Vulcan, Thursday afternoon, March 9. The president, Mrs. J. H. Lucas, presided with Agnes Irwin secretary. A beautiful piece of fancy work donated by Mrs. Morley, was won by Mrs. Carruthers. Reports of committees included a card party at the home of Mrs. Croucher with Mrs. Croucher and Mrs. W. Willey as hostesses. The bridge honors went to Mr. and Mrs. Jensen first, and Mr. and Mrs. Parsons consolation. Whist, Miss Sophie Fleuck and Mr. W. Willey first; Agnes Irwin and Mr. J. H. Lucas, consolation.

The regular business dispensed with, the roll call was answered with quotations and the program followed. Mrs. Carruthers read an interesting paper on "Famous Women" touching upon the lives of several notable women and concluding with a tribute to mothers. The president then called upon Mrs. Kennedy, the first president of Good Deeds W.I., for an address. Mrs. Kennedy in a few well chosen words, stressed the importance of good fellowship which had existed in this branch, and had been an important factor in its success. The names of the twelve charter members were read, seven of whom were present and spoke a few words each. It is interesting to note that so far there has not been a break in the twelve, three members living in the U.S., one in the Red Deer district and the remaining eight in the Vulcan district. Mrs. Alcock of Champion, who organized this branch on March 8, 1923, was present and addressed the meeting in her usual pleasing manner. A dainty lunch including a prettily decorated birthday cake was served at the close of the meeting. Mrs. Leighton, a charter member, and our oldest member, cut the cake. The meeting then adjourned till evening when the members and their husbands were entertained with bridge and whist. First honors in bridge were won by Mrs. W. Willey Mr. D. Richmond; consolation, Mrs. Parsons, Mrs. A. Lucas; whist, Mrs. H. Hungerbuhler, Mr. R. S. Irwin; consolation, Agnes Irwin, Mr. Heslip.

A lunch brought the evening to a close and the guests departed after a hearty vote of thanks to Mrs. Kennedy and singing "Auld Lang Syne."

Reid Hill community club held its regular monthly clinic last week. The nurse, Miss Davis of Milo, examined a dozen babies and was very pleased with the excellent turn out. To provide a little humor, all the mothers were weighed and a guessing contest ensued.

COUNCIL MEETING

The town council met at a special session in the municipal office on Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock for the purpose of discussing proposals made by the Canadian Legion in reference to the arrears of taxes on this property. All councillors were present and L. H. Stack, K.C., represented the Canadian Legion.

The meeting opened with discussing this question and Mr. Brown made a motion under Sec. 155 of the Town Act, "that the Canadian Legion be given a grant of all arrears of taxes, the same to be paid to the town in payment of said arrears." The motion was lost.

Discussion again ensued followed by a motion by Brown "that a compromise be made to reduce the arrears to $1800 and that a grant be made sufficient to keep the taxes on the property down to $500 maximum (Sec. 155) and in case of default of agreement made for payment of arrears the property will be subject to the full amount of taxes as at the day of the tax sale. The motion carried in voting for and Mayor King voting against.

Moved by Mr. Allan that Chas. Ottewill be granted privileges under the Consolidation Act for the arrears of business taxes. Motion carried.

The meeting then adjourned.

HOLD TWO CUPS

Two trophies, the Home Grain-Cup and the McNaughton Cup, are now in possession of the Vulcan curling club and will probably remain here until next season as the weather man has written him on the activities for this period.

Two attempts were made last week by the Champion club to lift the Home Grain Jewellery and on one of these occasions the McNaughton cup was defended but the locals proved the better at the roarin' game.

On Monday evening the games for the Home Grain cup resulted:

Rev. P. Dawson, Champion ..... 11
Jim Marshall, Vulcan ..... 12
Woodhull, Champion ..... 10
T. Lebeau, Vulcan ..... 11

On Wednesday night the Champion club challenged with both cups at stake this time bringing three rinks to play. The results:

Collins, Champion ..... 12
Anderson, Vulcan ..... 10
Lamont, Champion ..... 9
Wolfe, Vulcan ..... 14
Rev. Dawson, Champion ..... 17
Lebeau, Vulcan ..... 11

Inter-club games have been played with our neighbors throughout the season and the social association with keen rivalry have made interesting competitions.

ALL-STARS WIN

Mossleigh was defeated 9-4 in the final hockey show of the winter on Saturday evening when they played the Vulcan All Stars at the arena.

The All Stars comprised of the Frowthblowers strengthened by the Elk team goalie and defense players and proved too much for the north town team. Soft ice made the play rough and tough, and comedy spills gave the spectators their money's worth.

Referee J. Dobbs had the game under control at all times (nearly) and the crowd had the referee under control. The game would have had tragic aspect if the referee had not been carefully guarded.

Vulcan scored five in the first frame, two in the second and two in the final. Mossleigh registered one in the first, one in the second and two in the final.

Mossleigh—Hanson, B. McCollmack, F. McCollmack, J. Leslie, H. Leslie, R. Leslie, Christie, Love, Elkins.

Vulcan—Love, Kaiser, Laroche, Robson, A. Marshall, D. Snow, McDonald, B. Flood, Ross Walker Granlin.

The Frowthblowers were victorious over the Champion pucksters when they journeyed here on Wednesday of last week. The score was 4-2, the game fast, the ice excellent and the gallery satisfied.

THE ABYSS YAWNS FOR ALL

Not many weeks ago Senator Huey Long of Louisiana, addressed fellow members of the Senate, giving a warning of the situation which is fast developing in United States, and which is due to the concentration of wealth in the hands of the few—the six or seven per cent, of the population.

Mr. Long's speech as reported in the Congressional Record is quite applicable in the main, to the Canadian situation. Extracts are given as follows:

"When in 1920, the dollar was worth 60 cts. there were existing contracts between the government and railroads, between States and railroads, between cities and street car service and electric light companies, providing certain charges for service viz. 5 cts. a ride on the street cars, 2 cts. a mile on the railroads, 1 ct. a kilowatt hour for electricity, 5 cts. a thousand cubic feet for gas, and so on. But distinguished lawyers representing these interests went to the Supreme Court and said: 'These contracts are not worth a thing. In the general interest of society, the dollar must be considered as worth what it will buy, and the power of the government to regulate, overrides the sanctity of contracts.'

"The Supreme Court said that the contracts were of no value and must be under the regulating power of the government, and that prices legal when the dollar was worth a dollar, were not binding when the dollar was worth 60 cents. Therefore all contracts must be re-valued. The 5 ct. fares must be 8 cts., the 2 ct. railway fare must be 3.6 cts., the 5 ct. charge for gas was made 14 cts. And all over the land, the banking interests which owned the railroads and corporations then, and which own them now, succeeded in having cancelled contracts which had been made all over this country, in order to protect the vested right of property. All contracts that the people had were wiped out, and the sanctity of contract, about which they now talk, went as the night, and the mist before the sun.

"Now the shoe is on the other foot. The dollar is no longer worth 60 cts. as in 1920, nor worth a dollar as in 1926, but it is now worth $1.60. But when we come to you and say that we cannot now get the $1.60 to pay debts which we made when the dollar was worth 60 cts., you hold up your arms and holler 'the sanctity of contract.' Yet you cancelled millions of dollars of contracts made when the dollar fell to 60 cts.

"The water is flowing over the heads of struggling humanity, today, because at the value of commodity prices, interest on the public debt and taxes to be paid in the United States alone, amount to $45,000,000,000,000 a year. It is known that this cannot be paid. The only thing that can be done, is to put the human race through the wringer, until what property and life remain are more concentrated in the narrow funnel than they are today.

"It is claimed by Senate or from Maryland, that four-fifths of the trouble must be settled internationally. Do we need to settle the trouble of starvation internationally when there is more food in United States today than the whole human race could eat in thirty months? We need not go out of the country for clothing, nor to find homes for our people. We have so many houses, that instead of passing legislation to provide for people to occupy these houses, we enacted a building and loan law, so that loan companies could keep them. In other words we provided financial integrity in order that the empty homes could continue to be owned, so that people could walk the streets. We have fallen down in our domestic policy.

"Senators, you have allowed the property of America to be concentrated in the hands of a few and you have brought disaster to America. You have done that in the face of warning of every teacher of religion and of government since time started. And you call it radicalism if one suggested that the fruits and profits of the land should be shared by 120,000,000, instead of being concentrated in the hands of the few.

In 1916 President Wilson said that a calamity was headed for America, because 60 per cent. of the people owned only 5 per cent. of the wealth, and 2 per cent. of the people owned 60 per cent. of the wealth. Unless we broke up that inordinate distribution which prevailed in 1916, we were told we were headed for calamity. Yet in 1932, do the 2 per cent. still own 60 per cent. of the wealth? No. One per cent. owns 60 per cent. of the wealth, and two-thirds of the American people today could not pay their debts and have one cent. left.

"We have reached the point of stagnation. The abyss yawns. It has yawned for the poor man. It has yawned for the middle man. Now the abyss yawns for everybody in America unless this condition is corrected."

WEST AND MARITIMES

There has been great controversy going on in Maclean's magazine between the Maritimes and the West. Dr. Baird voicing the trials of the Bluesoes, makes the charge that the West wants more than its share of assistance, while off on the Atlantic seaboard folks just have to do without. He does not like "the West."

Now along comes young Jack McKillican of Purple Springs to call the doctor to order. He "talks back" in the latest Maclean's saying many things that the rest of us would have liked to say if we had had the words. Quoting only brief extracts:

"The mate to the shoe that pinches the Maritimes is pinching the prairie farmer. Take wool for instance (the West might be a successful sheep raising country). My sister buys fingering yarn at $1.75 a pound. My neighbor sold his wool last summer for 3 cents a pound. The Honorable members at Parliament will tell you that the sheep man must cut down his cost of production to meet free importation. But the tariff that raises the price of his machinery, his barbed wire, his supplies, naturally raises the cost of production. It is neither fair nor patriotic. Wool, like many primary products, could be protected to bring some measure of fairness.

"Dr. Baird is exercised over the fact that Canadian wheat producers drew a bonus in 1931. They were entitled to this bonus because: (1) wheat prices were below cost of production; (2) since it was impossible for farmers to receive benefit from an import duty on wheat, the same end might be gained by the bonus; (3) the farmer was entitled to some form of protection since the manufacturer was getting a good deal largely at the expense of the Western farmer.

I am not saying that the apple grower, or the fisherman of the Maritimes should not get the same treatment. Let him get it if he can put up a reasonable case and I think he can. But the ultimate limit of paternalism is bankruptcy. The West believes that such paternalism as tariffs, bonuses and subventions should be swept away. But as long as the manufacturer must have his protection the Western farmer is quite justified in demanding compensation for the injury done him by the tariff.

"Dr. Baird's attack on the farmer for lack of foresight in not cutting production is either lack of information or perversity. Lumbering which he mentioned, lends itself to control. If over production threatens, the lumberman can stop work temporarily and his product just keep on growing. But the farmer knows that the world needs so much wheat. Between seed time and harvest, anything may happen in any country—drought, cutworm, grasshopper, hail, frost. He must put in a crop and take a chance, because the world depends on him for sustenance. His grocer, banker, lawyer and doctor also take a hand in the game. He must put in his crop. It may be needed.

"Regarding the Atlantic seaboard ports, B.C. and Alberta are not greatly interested. They have Vancouver. Saskatchewan looks to Churchill, despite the clever propagandists from the East who malign. No amount of legislation will force us to take the more expensive route unless we have to.

"West and the Maritimes are pretty much in the same boat, with the primary producer bled by protected interests and organized finance. There is no reason why the East and West should not co-operate. But Maritimers must not harp on the patriotic and sentimental side of the bargain too much. Westerners have a habit of distrusting anything that smacks too much of sentiment or 'willing martyrdom'."

ANOTHER THEORY GONE WEST

Jokes and nasty cracks about women's propensity for telephone conversation, have grown with the prevailing use of the telephone. It has been generally accepted that women are world beaters in this form of recreation. But this theory like so many accepted theories, has been knocked out by statistics.

Statements of long distance telephone calls put through by the Alberta Legislature, prove that the one lone woman member is very chary of conversation compared with her more voluble male colleagues. Despite her isolated position, which would give her every excuse to chat frequently with a few of her own sex, she restrained herself admirably, checking in with only $59 worth of long distance conversation. And she a Cabinet Minister! Indeed the Cabinet Ministers with their multitudinous and far reaching interests showed a very fine example to private members, some of whom dropped pearls of wisdom to the extent of $1100 a year. They evidently have never heard of the use to which great executives have put the hour glass, which in our grandmothers' day, was the infallible gauge of the three minute egg.

Strangely enough, it is the opposition who top the list as long distance conversationalists. Liberals and Conservatives, from whose lips the word economy is rarely absent, have cut loose with gay abandon and talked their heads off. What is going on for example in the riding of Wetaskiwin, or what is being accomplished there that justifies Mr. Montgomery in talking 1,153 dollars' worth. For that matter what heavy deals justify Mr. Duggan of Edmonton in talking over long distance to the extent of $1,043. It would look very much as if private members denied full expression on the floor of the Legislature rushed out and made their speeches to their neighbors back home.

There is no doubt that we have in Edmonton, some of the talkingest boys of our time. We need not worry about their repressions, but we might give a thought to their conception of economy.

Economizing in little ways is a penny-pinching, disagreeable, nagging process which almost everyone dislikes. But practically every taxpayer is doing just that—economizing in light and heat, in travelling, in telephoning and telegraphing and even in stamps. If our members of legislature and also of parliament could guard their expenditures as scrupulously as if they were paying them from their own pockets, there might be a still greater saving in controllable expenses.

INDEPENDENTS SPEAK

There are strong rumors of renewed oil drilling activity in the High River area, and despite discouragement, it is believed that several independent companies are planning an aggressive plan of development. May good fortune attend them.

From the little actual information which is available to the public, there is an impression that the Independent companies in the oil fields have not had the consideration which they might. This, in view of the fact, that a great proportion of the small investor's money is tied up with the Independents. These companies have shown courage and initiative in prospecting new fields. Many of their discoveries have vastly added to the wealth, real and prospective, of the province. But their efforts, instead of meeting with encouragement, appear to have been stifled and smothered. For what purpose?

It seems to be a matter of good business that independent companies should have precedence. A great share of Alberta money is tied up with these companies and should be protected, by the Provincial Government, acting directly or through the Public Utilities Commission.

In this connection, many appeals have been made recently to the Provincial Legislature. Amongst them is that of Mrs. M. Gillanders of Gladys, as representative of the Associated Women Shareholders of Turner Valley Oil and Gas. She says in part.

"We women, as we informed you twelve months ago, are supporting the Independent Operators. All we ask of you, or any man, is plain justice. Many poor men and women have placed their all in this venture. Many farmers in the province of Alberta, who have considerable sums tied up in companies operating in Turner Valley, are without food and clothing. Are you, members of this house, who have enforced this conservation, prepared to reimburse these people for their loss?

"We are determined to fight this matter out to the bitter end. If we cannot get satisfaction in this House, there is another House in Ottawa. You have turned over the natural resources of Turner Valley to an American company. These resources were originally bought from the Dominion Government, by the Independent Companies, and paid for with the shareholders' money. You have

GAS "MOONSHINE" IN MONTANA

Farmers of That State Resort to Home Brew to Keep Cars Moving

The Montana Oil Journal claims that there are 200 "moonshine" gas plants in Northern Montana. The farmers and others buy crude for $1.00 a barrel, and with their personal refinery or "still," they extract the gas for the use of themselves and occasionally others. The barrels which they use as a still, is partly filled with crude, and by a process all their own the gas is extracted. Thousands of gallons of gasoline will be used this year on Montana highways, going tax free, according to the paper.

The federal tax is one cent, a gallon and the state tax is 5 cents.

GENERAL NEWS

Revenue from motor and gas taxes is higher in Alberta per capita than in any other prairie province.

Foothills League championship was won by Claresholm, which was a surprising finish for the season.

University of Alberta is being sued for $202,300 by C. H. Powlett of Calgary who claims his son was driven insane by initiation ceremonies.

Seven members of the Oxford Group visited Calgary this week on their way to Victoria. They will return later to Calgary.

Agricultural production in Alberta is down $30,000,000 in the last year, the sugar beet industry being the only one that did not show serious drop.

It is estimated that the war on the grasshopper plague this summer may cost the province $55,000. If the season is a wet one, the danger may not be so great. The campaign is to be carried on during April and May.

Okotoks Council and School Board have gone into conference, to find some common ground by which expenses may be further reduced. One man suggested closing High School because there was nothing for the children to do when they did get out. This, however was not considered.

Purchasing agents for China and Japan met the other day in the reception room of one of the big munitions firms in London, England. They fell to talking as friends and finally compared the prices they were paying. The result was that they went in to see the munitions maker together, put up a united front and went away with a 40 per cent. cut in prices.

EARTHQUAKE IN S CALIFORNIA

Lives Lost and Untold Property Damage in Quake Affecting 152 Cities in South

With a death toll of 118 or over, with 1000 victims in hospital and 4000 others injured, and with property damage to the extent of forty million dollars, Southern California was rocked on March 10, 11 and 12 with earth tremors. The most severely affected areas were round Long Beach though for a great distance the shock was felt with severity. There were 37 earth tremors, lessening in severity, after the first devastating quake of Friday evening.

The belt affected, is one of the richest in America. It includes the great citrus industry, the motion picture industry, and many of the most magnificent estates in the country.

Twenty-two school buildings at Long Beach, Compton and Los Angeles were a total loss, and 100 other structures were razed. Many of the sturdier buildings suffered minor injuries.

The continuance of the tremors caused the millions of inhabitants of Southern California, a period of long drawn strain and suffering. All cities were put under guard, and supplies were instantly rushed to the stricken district.

Although this part of California is the mecca of touring Canadians, there are few reported on the lists of dead or injured.

PLAN VEGETABLE SPACE AND MAKEUP

For the economy of time, and to escape the drudgery of gardening arrange the space for vegetables so that the work of cultivation may be done by horse power. That is the garden should have length rather than inter tillage by horses and scuffer is practicable. This system in its carrying out resolves itself for example into a row of carrots rather than a bed of carrots.

Rows should be fair width apart and plants in the row can be given ample space according to their habit of growth. Roominess is of particular advantage in a drought season as the larger moisture drawing area per plant is a further assurance towards a successful crop.

The vegetable garden is not necessarily a perplexing matter to worry or procrastinate about. In the spring as soon as garden soil is tillable plant, lettuce, radish, peas, spinach and onions. Sow small seeds in carefully worked ground, make rows straight, cover seeds well with soil yet shade toward shallow rather than than width and the rows be spaced so deep planting and firm the soil well over the seed, the tramping over each row with the feet can be recommended. At the end of April put in beets, carrots and parsnips. About May 20th plant beans, corn, cucumbers, pumpkin and squash. Tomatoes may be started in the house by planting in pots during March and transplant to the garden around the end of May.

Cabbage, especially the early sorts, and cauliflowers also may be started inside, although the main crop for winter use usually can be successfully grown by sowing the seed in early spring in a garden row where it is intended that the plants should grow.

Potatoes will probably require a larger space than the select garden area will provide, hence we may regard the potato as a crop for a small section of a favored field, preferably a fallowed one.

The classes of vegetables mentioned are not all inclusive nor is the variety name for each that follows suggested as the top in its class. Lettuce Iceberg; radish, Scarlet Top; peas, Thos. Laxton and Stratagem; spinach, Epinard; onions, Flat Red; beets Detroit Red; carrots, Chantenay; parsnips, Hollow Crown; beans, Small Pod Black Wax; corn, Banting or Pie inniny for early use, Golden Bantam for a late variety; cucumber, Davis Perfection; pumpkin, Small Sugar; squash, Green Ballhead and in potatoes Irish Cobbler and Netted Gem should prove acceptable.

The farmer's vegetable garden is in the ascendant and the thought that prompts this review is that ideas may be contributed that will aid in this important development, the improvement of the farmer's garden.

Looking at the News

It will be noted that the preference is Mustapha Kemal's.

Japanese armies are forbidden, to retreat under any circumstance. This would not seem to be sound military tactics were it not for General Araki's explanation that under exceptional circumstances an army may advance in a rearward direction.

Another Myth Exploded

Around the corner swift he sped To see what he could see. He saw a lot of things, he said, But not prosperity.

The New York Times points out that every period of depression sees a renewal of the agitation for inflation. Naturally. It is only when we are hard up for cash that we try to negotiate notes of hand. Those who think that all the government has to do to relieve the situation is to issue more bills overlook the fact that it has been tried time and time again. France and Austria did it after the Napoleonic wars. Germany and Russia did it after the late war, and for a few cents you could buy a bunch of marks or roubles as big as a dollar's worth of lettuce.

A man who was in the south at the time of the civil war told us that he once paid $1,100 for a suit of clothes. It was confederate money. After that war, the federal government issued greenbacks in such quantities that the dollar was worth at last only 35 cents. At the time of the revolutionary war, the Continental congress issued currency that gave rise to an expression used even unto this day, viz. "Not worth a continental." All these experiments should teach us that there must be sufficient substance behind even a government's promissory notes, if they are to pass at face value.

Several contests and musical numbers were enjoyed including solos by Miss Gothard and Miss Ruthie Kusch, with Mrs. Lorne Glass at the piano. A mock wedding caused much merriment. Mrs. D. Richmond as Eliza Huggum and Mrs. J. H. Lucas as Ebenzer Ginny were united in matrimony by Parson Parsons (Mrs. E. L. Parsons). A prettily decorated basket of gifts was presented to Miss Gothard by Miss Marian Irwin and Master Donald Glass. Miss Gothard in a pleasing manner thanked the guests.
